

Aurora and Raffaele Mangano: a tribute to writing

Aurora, the famous Turin-based company specialised in the creation of writing instruments and luxury goods, awarded an elegant pen to versatile author and journalist Raffaele Mangano during the presentation of his latest book “Andiamo a bere la pioggia”.

The venue was the Fairmont Hotel in Monte Carlo and the event was one of a series of “Meetings with Authors” organised by the Monaco-Italie cultural association, Co.Mi.Tes. (committee for Italians resident abroad) and Luisella Berrino.

The event was a huge success and after the presentation, to his great pleasure, the author received a refined black rollerball pen with chrome-plated cap from the Aurora 88 Collection.

The 88, which became a cult object in the 1950s, addresses a particularly discerning clientele and stands out for its simple design and precious materials carefully chosen to enhance the special craft finish. It is also available in the fountain pen and ballpoint pen versions in several elegant combinations of silver and gold.

Guests were also able to admire a number of pens from Aurora’s latest exclusive collections, such as the highly sought-after Asia, Africa and 85th Anniversary, on display alongside other precious items in a showcase at the entrance to the conference room.

Aurora, is a leading company in the production and sale of quality writing instruments and fine leather goods. Founded in Turin in 1919, Aurora has become part of the history of writing instruments, thanks to its ability to combine leading edge design and the best Italian craftsmanship. A rich cultural legacy and a long tradition of success have made Aurora’s writing instruments and leather goods true masterpieces of Italian craftwork, recognised and esteemed the world over.
